Vishinsky Delay is Triumph For Britain

REVIN'S FRAY SPEECH ALLAYS MOSCOW FEARS

BY OUR DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENT

MR. REVIN'S speech to the United Nations Assembly, in which he gave proof of Britain's determination to back the organization to the utmost, has gone further than any other individual national action so far to clear away a great deal of Moscow's suspicions.

It may indeed be more than coincidence that M. Vishinsky, head of the Soviet delegation, was delayed in Moscow until Mr. Revin's speech could be studied, and its full significance appreciated.

Vishinsky's non-arrival was one of the most discussed matters yesterday in the lobbies of the Central Hall, Westminster. There was no official news about the Russian Foreign Vice-Commissioner, and he was not expected to arrive until today or tomorrow.

Behind the scenes it is thought that Russia will now come into the open to a greater extent than she has yet done.

Summing up the prospects of the immediate future, diplomatic opinion generally falls under these headings:

(1) The Security Council has got off to a good start, and will soon get into its stride in a really constructive way. There is no initial insurmountable difference, among the Big Five to hold up progress.

(2) The early formation—with in the next few days—of those two really important bodies, the Atomic Energy Committee and the Military Staff Committee. Both will be of stature in the deeper sense of the word.

(3) The key problem in the problems of the United Nations—the appointment of a Secretary-General—will be solved in a new spirit of good will.

Despite speculation, I can say that all now there is one name with an outstanding chance. The field is still wide open, and no one can guess who will take the post.

Other Committees, in their way as necessary as the Security Council to the smooth working of the Assembly, already show signs of going ahead faster than even the optimists hoped.

This is because of the new sense of sober confidence and good will that seemed to come from Central Hall since Mr. Revin gave his lecture in "laying the cards on the table" upwards.

On balance, finally, while there are obviously many serious problems facing the United Nations, the fact remains that it has done better than was generally anticipated, and there is no reason why this progress should not continue, even if the pace varies.

Armoured police cars are in the town, but there has so far been no explanation of an explosion at 8.15 a.m.

Because the Palestine Broadcasting Commission stopped, it was rumoured that terrorists were attacking the broadcasting station.

This week's meeting of the Security Council will be in camera.

It will be the first secret session since the Council was convened.

Matters to be discussed will almost certainly include the appointment of the Secretary-General and the Military Staff Committee.

J. A. Rank's Big Irish Kinema Deal

ODEON KINEMAS, the biggest cinema circuit in the British organisation, has concluded a deal with Irish Kinemas, Ltd., and Metroplex and Allied Kinemas, it was announced in Dublin yesterday by Mr. J. A. Rank.

Odeon Kinemas have acquired a joint directorship in the companies with Mr. M. Read, Mr. Maurice Eilman and Mr. Louis Eilman. The new directors will probably be Mr. Rank and Mr. John Davis, managing director of Odeon Kinemas.

The combined assets of the two companies amount to about £1,250,000, and their kinemas include the most of the big houses in Dublin, Cork and Limerick. It is considered in Dublin that the deal will be a considerable help to the British film industry in the Irish market.

Gen. Morgan To Fly To Washington

Lt.-Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan, G.C.B., C.M.G., C.V.O., is expected to fly direct to Washington in a few days.

He will personally present his appeal to Mr. Lehman, Director-General of UNRRA, against the decision to terminate his appointment following remarks he made "in the exodus of Jews from Europe."

Some of these leaders are said to occupy important positions in the Austrian Catholic hierarchy.

NEW LEGAL AID BILL

You May Have A Lawyer For 2/6

DETAILS have now been released of possible clauses in the long-pending Bill on free legal aid which is to be presented by the Government within a few weeks.

The three main points in the new proposals are:

1. Free aid is to be given to all who are prosecuted for any offence, whether in inferior, Quarter Session or Assize courts.

2. People earning not more than £400 a year who are sued in civil cases will have their legal expenses paid.

3. Legal advice will be available at all times for a fee of 2s. 6d. and even this may be remitted in some cases.

TWO SECTIONS
The Law Society will administer the scheme on behalf of the Government.

It falls into two sections, civil and criminal.

In all civil cases, whether in the County Court or the House of Lords, legal help will be available to all with net incomes of not more than £400 a year.

Those who can afford it will pay part of the cost. Fees charged by solicitors engaged will be 85 per cent. of the normal rates.

In criminal cases, legal aid certificates will be extended to include all those brought before magistrates' courts and the higher courts, right up to the House of Lords.

At present certificates are generally granted in all cases of murder, manslaughter and rape, but not in cases of assault, affluence and separation cases and larceny will be included.

LAW "TEAMS"
Teams of lawyers will, under the Bill, be organised to work in centres throughout the country and on payment of a fee of 2s. 6d. in each case, will give advice.

Whole costs of the scheme is to be borne by the State. Each year the Law Society will submit to the Lord Chancellor an estimate of the amount required in England and Wales.

It will then make a block payment to the Society, which will allocate the money to area committees.

Finally the Bill will also cover the stigma of the phrase "poor person." It will now be "assisted person."

Fog And Snow Blanket Britain

FOG, Rain, Sleet, Snow, Bitter Gales Cold or very Cold—that is Britain's week-end weather forecast mixture—with particular stress on the Fog. Blizzards swept parts of the "Sunny South," ranged up to Northern England, Scotland and Ireland, turning roads into icebound tracks of peril.

Last night almost the whole of the Isle of Wight was covered with a 6 in. blanket of snow, and large areas of South Scotland, East and North Wales and England, except in the south-west and coastal districts of East Anglia, were far more deeply blanketed by a white fog. And it was expected to continue today too.

Six inches of snow has also fallen at Weymouth, and drifts over two feet deep have cut off Cumberland villages from the nearest town.

Villagers spent yesterday laying in stocks of food and fuel, ready for a long siege.

SAVING FLOCKS
Blizzards sweeping North Yorkshire formed deep drifts on the Cleveland hills and on moorlands and shepherds have set out, to bring in their flocks to the safety of the folds.

Some of the North Riding rivers are frozen over.

Snow has also fallen heavily in Lancashire, Cheshire and the Lake District.

From Devon, Cornwall, Gloucestershire, Dorset, Surrey, Hants, Berks, Sussex, Kent, Essex, Suffolk, Yorks, Lancs, Derbyshire, Cumberland, Durham and the East Midlands A.A. reports told of treacherous ice-bound roads.

Other weather reports last night said:

London-Brighton, road impassable near Reigate, and drivers have to use chains on Kent roads. The Bexley-Torquay road is also blocked.

COLDEST SPOT
Frederick Barley, fifty-four, of Highbury, Deptford, Essex, died in hospital after his car skidded and hit a lamp post.

His wife is in hospital. He was sobbing on Hampstead Heath.

Coldest spot in Britain during the night was Torquay—29 degrees.

A middle-aged man, lying in a Weymouth hotel, crushed his inches of snow on the front to have his weekly bath in the sea.

BUT there was good news for Londoners.

We have sufficient current to carry everyone over the week-end. The Electricity Board.

And the gas companies do not expect any noticeable cut in gas pressure.

HE MADE £1,450,000!

From ARTHUR OAKSHOTT, Reuter's Special Correspondent, Munich, Saturday.

ALL Bavaria is laughing at a plea from Heinrich Hoffman, the man who made a fortune as Hitler's personal photographer. He wants to be "de-Nazified."

To a friend here Hoffman wrote: "I was never prominent in political matters and I never treated my employees badly. I had nothing to do with all those dreadful things, and yet I have to remain here awaiting trial."

Hoffman went on: "I was never a member of the B.M. or S.A. and held no office in the Nazi Party." But Bavaria came from all this. They know that it was a "sold badge" Nazi Party member.

When arrested he possessed five luxurious mansions in Germany as well as a couple of 500 marks. When Germany surrendered he had amassed a fortune of £1,450,000.

After arrested he possessed five luxurious mansions in Germany as well as a couple of 500 marks. When Germany surrendered he had amassed a fortune of £1,450,000.

He used the city of Munich a total of 2,000,000 marks (£200,000) in taxes.

Hoffman became a member because he had the sole right to photograph Hitler and other Nazi leaders.

At the beginning of his career his chief clerk was Eva Braun, the girl who later married Hitler. She may have accounted for the fact that he was a "sold badge" member of the S.A. and the S.S. "sold badge" member of the S.A. and the S.S. "sold badge" member of the S.A. and the S.S.

KAISER TRIES TO STOP BIG STRIKE

FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

THE first ray of hope in the U.S. steel crisis which threatens to idle 500,000 workers idle tomorrow midnight, came today when Mr. Henry J. Kaiser, builder of the Liberty ships, signed an agreement to give his steelmen substantial wage increases.

Breaking away from the other employers, he offered a rise of 94¢ an hour—the amount proposed by President Truman, accepted by the unions, but rejected by the big U.S. Steel Corporation and other employers.

He said he could not conceive that a sum of 10¢ an hour—the difference between the companies' offer and Truman's 94¢—should be permitted to retard or destroy the possibility of real peace and prosperity for the nation.

But Mr. Kaiser's action, announced after he had visited the White House, is not expected to prevent the strike from taking place as scheduled.

Diana Hit Out, And—

THE STAR SAW STARS

Hollywood, Saturday.
DIANA BARREMOORE, the heroine of a real-life crack-of-dawn brawl at a Hollywood party on the lawn of the home of John Backus, the artist, and friend of Errol Flynn.

Lawrence Tierney, the screen villain, named Colby the son of Ethel Barrymore, and several others, including Jack La Rue, who sought to establish peace and recover cuts on his head, nose and lip for his trouble, were present when the fighting began.

Then Diana strope in.

Describing happenings later, she said: "I was furious when I saw Barrymore covered in blood. Tierney had pulled out his shirt and was standing there like Tammy."

"I went up to him and said: 'You're a dreadful actor—'

"If you want to fight, hit me and often. He just went on looking at me."

Errol Flynn was not involved in the fight. Guests who left before the fight started included Joe Lento, Faulett Goddard, Merle Oberon, David Selznick, the producer, and Harpo Marx.—B.U.P.

Manville Leaves His 8th Wife

New York, Saturday. TOMMY MANVILLE, the United States' most famous and persistent bridegroom, and his eighth wife, the former British woman journalist, Georgina Campbell, have separated after exactly four weeks of married life.

Manville's lawyer said in proceedings are expected soon. This is the culmination of several quarrels.

Tommy Manville, the millionaire asbestos king, is also known as the alimony prince.

It was Georgina Campbell's first marriage. Shortly before she married the said: "We are both people who make up our minds instantly."

Manville is reported to have once said he would probably get married 20 times. He usually meets his wives in night clubs, proposes and divorces a party on the spot. The woman is generally about twenty years old. He is about fifty years old.

One romance lasted a fortnight, another two months. Divorce reasons range from the bride getting lobster to one who could not cook.

Mrs. Manville the sixth—William Manville's daughter—surprised him when he offered her a $250,000 settlement she turned it down. She quoted him as saying: "That's absolutely silly. All my wives take money when they divorce me."—B.U.P.

FOOD FACTS VARIETY into your STEWS

Are you keeping that New Year Resolution—to make meals more interesting, by trying a new food every week? To help you, here are some suggestions for putting variety into your stews. They're different, they're different, they're different. They're different, they're different, they're different. They're different, they're different, they're different.

FAMILY RECIPE—with variations
Use your standard stew recipe, with Beef, Lamb, Pork or Veal, and vary it with herbs, spices and meat-stretching additions—

1. Parsnips
 2. With beef, try 1-2 cloves.
 3. With lamb, add some sage.
 4. With mutton, some mint.
 5. With any meat, one bay leaf.
 6. Some of your bottled tomatoes.
- RECIPE'S CORNER
Never drown your stew with too much liquid. Add only enough to moisten, or you'll weaken the flavour.

THIS IS WEEK 27—on third week of action recipe No. 27. 27th Feb. to 27th Feb.

THE MINISTRY OF FOOD, LONDON, W.1. FOOD FACTS No. 27

Who is she?

Maybe you don't know, but there are plenty who do. They don't need to see her face to recognise her as the girl who comes round regularly to collect their Savings. She's a Voluntary Worker in the National Savings Movement, and if you were to ask her why she's doing this unpaid work she'd say, "First—increased Savings will help the Nation towards prosperity. Secondly—in this, in turn, will help towards individual prosperity. That's why I'm doing it. I can't help the Savings Movement."

Why not become a Voluntary Savings Worker yourself? Your Local Savings Committee will welcome you, or write to the National Savings Committee (Dept. V.F.2), London.

Tidworth (Hants), Saturday.

I CAN WELL IMAGINE THESE ORDERS HAVING BEEN ISSUED BY COLONEL-IN-CHARGE TIDWORTH BRIDES' CAMP, U.S. ARMY. INFORMATION—Six hundred G.I. brides and babies will arrive here on Tuesday, January 31, requiring accommodation and a good impression of the U.S.A. They will stay four days.

INTENTION—The U.S. Army will extend its usual welcome and efficiency to its brides and their babies.

METHOD—Criss. Two hundred will be accommodated in canteen and camp.

Diapers (American) or nappies (English). Twelve hundred will be made from sheets by suitable persons detailed for the purpose.

Purely British "housemothers" will be available to look after babies.

ADMINISTRATION—The brides will not wait in queues. Their treatment will be equivalent to that usually given to mothers of higher status.

Some such order must have been written by a tall Texan colonel who is in charge of the first stage of the biggest migration of women and children from this country.

His job will not end until 10,000 G.I. brides, with approximately 30,000 babies, have left this country to join their husbands in the U.S.

The Texan is Lieut.-Col. Thomas Houston, and he has never lacked a similar job in his life. His bride is a girl named by the staff of the camp, and she is a girl named by the staff of the camp.

In the official inventory the nappies are called "Diapers," but an administrative sergeant at the camp is already calling them "Diapers."

Particular stress is laid on the avoidance of "diapers" during the bride's stay in camp to give them the best impression of their future home. And strict instructions have been given that no baby should be taken into the camp from now on.

The Texan bride will be about the same as the rest of the brides called "Diapers," but an administrative sergeant at the camp is already calling them "Diapers."

NOT REPLY. A theatre is ready in the camp, and there will be the newest movies—this is not yet released in this country.

The accommodation, which has been built up from a brick building, is not the best, but the sergeant, "but they will be comfortable and warm, as we have lots of coal. Usually there will be separate rooms for each mother and child, and in cases where there are two children or more, they will all be together."

There will be three scales of diet—for bride, for expectant mothers, and for children. Mothers are asked to bring with them any special foods necessary for their babies, and hot-water bottles.

Measures are being taken to ensure that the girls are properly clothed. The only people allowed on the boat which will leave for the States will be women who have a ticket to the States, and the camp is situated. Such passengers will be allowed to change $10 into dollars.

One item on the registration form will be the date of birth. They will be added to state the sex of the babies who have married a W.A.C. and who will pass through the camp later.

The Army has to keep its books straight, so the item was added to every form.

The last official action will be a happy one for the brides. They will give up their British citizenship.

BOMB REPAIRS AT THE DOUBT
The speed-up order for bomb repairs is taking effect.

AT 7 P.M. on Friday two workmen arrived at a house in East Ham where a bedroom ceiling had collapsed.

The damaged ceiling had been removed. Plaster boards were brought and the job started.

Immediately the plaster boards had been fixed plasterers arrived. At 7 P.M. the job of replastering the ceiling was completed and the whole of the plasterers' equipment cleared from the room and put outside the house ready for the next job.

Had 24 Knives In His Trousers!
Knives and knife were said to have been found tucked round the legs of Thomas Small, twenty-year-old resident of Kings' Place, W.1, who was fined £5 at East Ham, yesterday, for stealing two more cable knives for £5 for unlawful possession of four parts of it.

It was alleged that the theft took place from a ship being loaded by George V. Dock, and Det.-Inspector Tipper told the court: "We are overjoyed to find the man in this type of offence."

'Most Beautiful Girl I've Ever Seen'

From Our Special Correspondent

Hollywood, Saturday. PRaise and admiration from author Sever Maughan has boosted the stock of a practically unknown girl.

"She's the most beautiful girl I've ever seen," said Maughan when he saw Cathy Downs at a Hollywood party.

Former New York model, Cathy was spotted by a 20th Century—Fox talent scout, and has spent two years preparing for the screen.

She has taken every acting course offered by the studio to new players. Maughan's remark came as an inspiration for Miss Downs, and a test put her a part in Dark Harbor, opposite Clifton Webb.

At about 2.30 p.m., she knooked at the door of the house in Hendon-way, Colindale Avenue, Mrs. Parker answered the knock, told her that "Mr. Smith" didn't live there.

She went away, but came back half an hour later with two men. (Her descriptions, issued last night: One was 5 ft. 10 in., wearing a dark overcoat with a silk scarf, trimly hat; the other, 5 ft. 6 in., long thin dark overcoat, no hat. Both young—between 20-25.)

One said he was a detective and was looking for a "Mr."

"The Transvaal," leading Transvaal Africans daily paper supporting the National Party, published an appeal by the Dutch Reformed Church in South Africa for raising relief funds for Germany.

LAST WEEK a total of £20,000,000 was raised in "small" savings, with £12,122,445 the previous week.

VAUXHALL MEN: 461-HOUR WEEK
A guaranteed 461-hr. week for their 10,000 employees was announced by Vauxhall Motors, Luton, yesterday.

Workers sent home because of shortage of materials will be paid at the basic weekly rate. Workers will thus receive full pay for the Easter, Whitman and August Monday holidays. They already have a fortnight's paid holiday.

Watchmaker Robbed: Man Held
A man charged a watch repairer's shop in Watford, London, yesterday, struck the proprietor, Mr. Jack Lighter, and stole about £7. He, from behind the counter, he dashed from the shop, but two Canadian soldiers chased him.

Later a man was detained at Southwark Police Station.

SHE LEFT MONEY TO ZOO PARROTS
Residue of her £20,000 estate was left by Miss Margaret Mary Salisbury, of Clonagh-sha, S. Co. for seven of large parrots, two trunks, swings and places for the parrots for ever in the Zoo. "where these amazing ways may be seen and they can enjoy their life."

GIRL IN SLACKS LED CRIME

Tube Clue In Gun Moll Hunt

SPECIAL TO "THE PEOPLE"

If you were at Euston Underground Station yesterday between 4-5 p.m., you may have seen a young, good-looking brunette wearing slacks and a black bandana round her head.

If you did—remember Scotland Yard at once. Last night all available C.I.D. and uniformed men were combing London for this girl, who headed and directed the armed robbery of a Golders Green housewife on Friday.

Going even further than the personnel of fiction and films, she stood over the woman, Mrs. Lillian Parker, of Hendon-way, Golders Green, while her two men accomplices ransacked the house.

Here is a full description: About 18 years—about 20; 5 ft. 4 in., slim, brown-haired, sallow complexion with heavy nose-bridge; wearing dark slacks, long, black coat, black pin-stripe slacks.

Overall description: "Smart."

And she was "smart" in more than one sense. Here is the story of a crime which has set the C.I.D. personnel of several London divisions, and of Scotland Yard, searching for a part in the story.

At about 2.30 p.m., she knooked at the door of the house in Hendon-way, Colindale Avenue, Mrs. Parker answered the knock, told her that "Mr. Smith" didn't live there.

She went away, but came back half an hour later with two men. (Her descriptions, issued last night: One was 5 ft. 10 in., wearing a dark overcoat with a silk scarf, trimly hat; the other, 5 ft. 6 in., long thin dark overcoat, no hat. Both young—between 20-25.)
